The comic strip 'The Nativity' is divided into four panels, each featuring a hand-drawn illustration and a corresponding text box.

- Panel 1: Mary and Joseph are walking at night. Mary is carrying a bundle, and Joseph is pushing a stroller. A star is visible in the sky. The text box says: "I hope we can find a place to stay in Bethlehem."
- Panel 2: They have arrived at a large, ornate stone building. A star is visible in the sky. The text box says: "This must be Bethlehem. Let's go inside."
- Panel 3: A large fire is burning in the foreground. A star is visible in the sky. The text box says: "What is that fire? It's so bright!"
- Panel 4: Mary and Joseph are standing in front of a small, rustic stable. A star is visible in the sky. The text box says: "This is the place. Let's go inside."
